PREMIO ÓRDENES ESPAÑOLAS 2nd EDITION

The Spanish Calvary Orders of Santiago, Calatrava, Alcántara and Montesa announced the second edition of the Premio Órdenes Españolas Award. The aim of the "Premio Ordenes Españolas" Award is to distinguish the history researcher from any country in the world whose research has achieved general recognition due to the importance of the study matter that he/she has pursued, the rigor displayed documenting his/her work, and whose work or any part thereof bears a relationship with the Hispanic world and its projection.

The British historian and hispanist John H. Elliott was awarded, on the first edition, with the Premio Órdenes Españolas Award 2018. His Majesty the King of Spain Felipe VI awarded the prize in "Salas Capitulares" of Real Monasterio de El Escorial on May 25th, 2018.

John H. Elliot, in his speech he defined the award: It is a unique prize in the world, the first internationally devoted exclusively to history. And His Majesty the King underlined the initiative of this award: ...with an open and universal vision, because it is the most successful way to approach and understand trajectories, phenomena, and historical singularities. All this from the most solvent historiography, a fundamental and irrevocable science that decisively contributes to our knowing and understanding ourselves as societies and as peoples...
